

Recruiting & Labor Relations

The single most time consuming challenge in most businesses is the hiring, managing and separation of employees. The legal minefield surrounding recruitment, offers of employment, contracts, negotiations, coaching and counseling, documentation, and separation meetings alone make finding and retaining employees a daunting task. The legal implications have the power to paralyze and even break down attempts at building a high performance team. Stellaris Group works tirelessly at minimizing your risk. We strive to help you continue to do business while offering the reassurance of precaution, anticipation and foresight.
